The City of Helena passed up yesterday vening for St. Louis on time with a fair 8 bales of colton, 19 bags seed-cotton, and 1059 sacks seed

The City of Vicksburg passed down yester-day evening for Vicksburg with a good trip. She added 25 tons here. The Cons Millar departed yesterday even-ing for Cincinnati with 400 bales cotton, 860 sacks oil-meal, 100 barrels oil, 141 old carwheels, and a fair trip of people.

The atmosphere—cooled, purified and freshened by the rain of Thursday night—was just the right temperature for the transaction of the fair share of business offering on the landing. On Sunday, May 31st, the Mannercho one of the leading German societies, will give an excursion on the river. Two barges have been secured, which will be fitted up with awnings and seats, and decorated with flags, flowers and evergreens.

Captain Walker Outlaw will take this closing opportunity to outdo all his former efforts in the way of politenes and attention to passengers. Her hour is five o'clock.

Passengers and shippers for the Ohio desiring good accommodations and quick dispatch are reminded that the U. P. Schenck, of the Southern Transportation line, is billed to leave to morrow morning at eight o'clock. Captain Carter's motto is "comfort before style and safety before speed," and, with these to guide him, seldom or never hears aught from patrons but words of praise. ST. LOUIS, ::: MO.

Her agent, Captain John T. Washington, 314 Front street, will make rates and give all other details. See him to-day and be ready for the U. P. S. in the morning.

The Morgan Rattler, chief of the Southern Transportation line of elegant steamers, will pass up to-morrow night for Cairo, Evans-ville, Louisville and Cincinnati. Passengers for these points, and further north and east, should keep a sharp lookout, as it is not every day they are offered the chance of traveling with such men as Captain Harry W. Stein or on such a complete steamboat as the Morgan. Captain John T. Washington, agent, 314 Front street, or Captain James Carr, passenger agent, at the Peabody hotel, will furnish full information as to rates, etc. If business or pleasure should demand your attention southward just now, remember that the good steamboat Robert Mitchell will leave for New Orleans at six o'clock this afternoon offering accommodations as good as ternoon, offering accommodations as good as the best, and making the time as fast as any one wants to travel in hot weather. Captain Dan Moore will, after he strikes the lower coast, show you the difference between the orange and persimmon trees, and it is not every steamboatman who can do as much. See Captain John T. Had John Sherman known the high grade of Silver which has circulated for a long time in the Misaissippi valley, he never would have had the cheek to send a message to congress complaining of a superabundance of the shin-ing metal. Take Captain Silver, for instance, who leaves with his magnificent steamer Annie P. Silver for New Orleans to-morrow morning from the Anchor-line wharfboat; to have too many of his sort would hardly be possible. One voyage with him, under the ægis of the anchor between the chimneys, will convince any one that Sherman is violently prejudiced. Captain Ad Storm, on the wharfboat, will continue the chapter, giving rates, etc., for live freight or dead weight.

If the Anchor-line has a strong hold, and good many people think they have several of these, it is in knowing a good man when they see him. When Captain W. H. Blake, than whom a more efficient or popular man has never commanded a boat on western waters, was disabled, the manager of the waters, was disabled, the manager of the company with a long headedness often before exhibited, selected Captain Harry Brolaski to succeed him in command of their cet St. Louis and Vicksburg steamer John B. Maude, well knowing the good name so faithfully carned by Captain Brolaski would not suffer in his hands. The Maude leaves the company's wharf boat to morrow morning at en o'clock for Vicksburg and the bends, and anyone southward bound who fails to secure passage by her will only regret it once, and that will be for the balance of their traveling career. Chief Clerk Billy Blenker will see that his guests lack nothing that will con-duce to pleasure and comfort.

Personal. The family of Captain J. J. Darragh will spend the summer at Searcy Springs, Ar-Jimmy Carr, of the coal staff of Messrs. Brown & Jones at the leves, left on the City of Helena yesterday evening on a brief visit o relatives in Missouri. Mr. John C. Briggs, who was on the Marlin Speed last season, is now clerk of the dry weather packet Plow Boy, in the Pine Bluff and Little Rock trade. Mike Logan, for a long time in the employ of the Louisville and Cincinnati Mail line company, went out last night second clerk with Lloyd Whitlow on the James Lee. Adam Wasson, who has been piloting the Billy Collins around in the little rivers, bay-ous and lagoons of the lower coast, has returned to the city, and will take a short rest after his long siege of labor in alligator-land. Lou Jones is getting more out of the clipper Jim Lee than she has shown for a long time. It is said that he can go further and get there quicker with less fuel than a good nany of the boys who think themselves no The Maccaroni club has chartered a boat and will have her ready in about ten days, when the boys will eat "biled pipe-stems" for the first time this season. The s spying out the land already, in anticipation of the heavy contribution which will be laid upon him.

Commodore Harbin assured the Cincinnati Enquirer river man the other day that Mem-phis has done, and is doing, everything necessary to prevent a visit from Bronze John this season, and gave it as his opinion that it. Good words fitly spoken. Picked Up Adrift.

a most effective checkmate to the Louisville and Nashville road, which now controls the Mobile and Montgomery rail connection. These checks and balances are of great help o the commerce of the country in preventing bled to monopolize the traffic over any given

An Interesting Decision. Sr. Louis, May 21 .- A suit of considerable mportance to steamboatmen was decided by ludge Treat, of the United States district court, to day. In November last the towboat Lioness No. 2 shipped a crew of ten men at Pittsburg to bring a tow of coal to St. Louis. on her arrival at Cairo the tow was divided as isual, it requiring two trips to bring the entire cargo from Cairo here. Oa her second trip the Lioness was obliged to lay up at Bushberg, twenty-five miles below here, on account of ice in the river. The crew was paid off to date and discharged. Subse-quently the men sued W. H. Brown & Co., owners of the Lioness, for their expenses back to Pittsburg and wages until their arrival at that port; and Judge Treat's de ision is in their favor. Towboats and Barges.
